Hey Guys,

I finished high school last year and to say the least it was tough. I had friends but I never really felt like I fit in, this intensified when I started to struggle with depression.

During my depression, I turned to social media for some form of support.

cyber abuse. I was receiving anonymous messages telling me that I should kill myself and that I was ugly, fat and disgusting. It was hard to believe because I didn't feel alone, it really broke me and is still affecting me, months after the messages have stopped.

This foundation makes me want to get involved and raise awareness. As an 18 year old, I know what it's like to feel alone and not know where to turn. I have the thoughts of someone trying to go through the same. I make weekly YouTube videos and I am hoping to start raising some awareness that way as well as in my community. I am reaching out to the Cyber Foundation because I think it is incredibly important that being online is safe... See more

Inoculate Against Bullying by Chatting with your Children
I pick my son up from school most days, and from his first day of kindergarten I got into the habit of routinely asking him two specific questions: 1) "How was your day?" and 2) "Was there any bullying?" I'd ask the latter question with a conspiratorial raise of my brow—as if asking him if... Read more
